Chapter 1

The Working Dogs

Working dogs can be found in many different countries. In Australia, there are Australian Cattle dogs and Kelpies that work on farms.

Australian Cattle Dogs

Australian Cattle Dogs were bred to herd up cattle and sheep. They are very strong dogs and are loyal. Their colors are either grey and white or red and white. They are also called Blue Heelers or Red Heelers. They are very protective and will protect their owner and house.

Kelpies

Kelpies were bred for working with cattle and sheep. They can muster with little commands from their owner. Kelpies are usually brown with caramel colour on their face. They are very fast and can pounce like cats onto the back of sheep.
